Central, Heritage acquisition Shareholders vote on merger

Shareholders of American Heritage Bank of Granite City will vote today on whether to become a part of the Central Banc System, which is based in Granite City.

The proposed acquisition initially was supported by all five American Heritage directors and is still being backed by Frank Draganich and Kiro Vasiloff.

Opposed are Robert H. Karandjeff and Roger A. Higgins.

Director Ernest A. Karandjeff Sr., chairman of Central Banc

System and of American Heritage Bank) died May 16.

Opposing votes are being solicited by R.H. Karandjeff at his home address, 2125 Garfield Ave. Favorable votes are being urged by R. Scott Mount, acting president of the bank, which is located at Nameeki and Fehling roads.

Citing board actions of May 8 and 12, the bank filed a complaint May 13 in the Madison County Circuit Court seeking to enjoin R.H. Karandjeff from participating in bank operations. However, an informal agreement was reached for him to perform administrative duties until today's meeting.

E.A. "Drew" Karandjeff Jr. is a major shareholder in Central Banc System and American Heritage Bank. He is president of Central Banc System, Central Bank of Granite City and Central Bank of Glen Carbon.

Central Bank of Granite City, the former Trust & Savings Bank, was established in 1910. American Heritage, the former American National Bank, was formed in 1959 by some of the Trust & Savings owners and by others.

Central Banc System is a bank holding company that was created in 1962.

It acquired Central Bank of Granite City in 1983, Central Bank of Glen Carbon in 1984, Farmers & Merchants Bank of Carlinville, also in 1984, and Central Bank of Fairview Heights in 1985.

Tax time brings added problems to city treasurer

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — It's property tax time again. And that means extra problems for City Treasurer Nick Petrillo.

Though he took out a large advertisement to explain the situation, residents are still sending their property tax payments to Madison County Treasurer Michael Henkhaus instead of paying them at any local bank or at Petrillo's office in City Hall.

"Evidently, people don't read," Petrillo said.

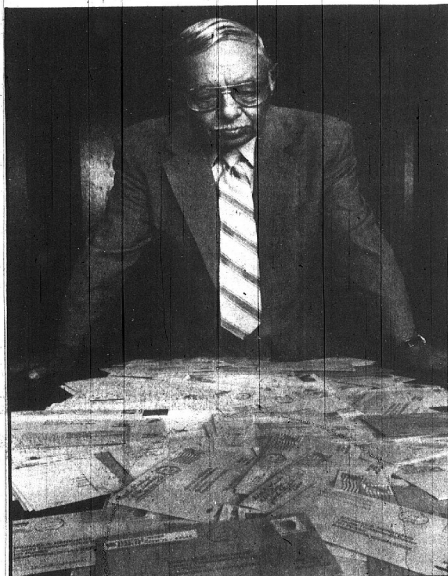

Petrillo has to journey to Edwardsville several times a week to pick up property tax payments sent to Henkhaus.

"I don't get a dime for this," he said. "Now I'm getting tired." Property taxes are to be paid to Petrillo until Aug. 31. After that time, payments are to be made to Henkhaus.

"It would be so easy if the people would listen a little bit," Petrillo said while looking over a stack of payments he hauled back to Granite City from Edwardsville.

He urged Granite City Township residents to pay their property taxes in town.

A PILE OF ENVELOPES containing property tax payments mistakenly sent to Edwardsville are looked upon by City Treasurer Nick Petrillo. Some Granite City Township residents have sent their payments to Edwardsville instead of to Petrillo, causing him to make several trips a week to the county seat to pick up the payments.

Venice summer schools open to children, adults

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer

Venice — Summer school programs for elementary level pupils and adult students will be offered this year.

Funds made available through the Education Reform Act will enable targeted pupils from grades 2 through 6 to receive concentrated remedial instruction in reading and mathematics. Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

STARTING JUNE 16, about 60 pupils who have been identified by their teachers through test score results as requiring or potentially benefiting from the remedial classes will begin the six-week summer school session.

Also at Thursday night's Board of Education meeting, Peter Ponce, Venice-Lincoln Technical Center director, reported funds have been released by the Illinois Department of Public Aid for a special 11-week session at the adult vocational education school.

Geared to public aid clients only, this summer's instructional program is the second to be offered in the adult center's history during the summer months, Ponce said.

APPROVAL WAS granted by the board to schedule classes starting (See SCHOOLS, Page 8A)

A SOLAR SYSTEM PROJECT submitted by Mitchell School fifth-grader Chris Greer is scrutinized by John Sikora, left, a Grigsby Junior High School science teacher, and Bob Rehg, a science teacher at Granite City High School. The men were two of the judges at the science fair last week at Mitchell School for all elementary school students in the district. The project was given a first-place rating.

Reviews and previews

Union negotiations continue

Negotiations between the City and two unions continue this week. Officials from Operating Engineers Local 525 and Firefighters' Local 253 are not commenting on the progress negotiations. Two weeks ago, the policeman's union ratified a contract calling for 3-to-4 percent raises over the next three years.

Port District accepts financing

Area banks have agreed to underwrite $500,000 of a $2.5 million modernization project at the Tri-City Port District. Local banks are buying a portion of a loan by Continental Illinois Bank, not loaning the Port District money. Recently reorganized, Continental Illinois has asked for a demonstration of public support for the project.

Council hears liquor license debate

Church and business representatives debated Mayor Von Dee Cruse May 20 over granting of a liquor license to National Super Market. Rev. Bob Jones, pastor of Grace Baptist Church disagreed with the license. Business leaders asked that they too be granted liquor licenses.

50 years ago

Thursday, May 28, 1936

After being closed by order of Police Chief Ray Bachman since May 23, the Ace of Clubs Tavern, located at 1420 Fourth Street, in Madison, reopened yesterday. Tavern owners convinced Madison County courts the police action was unjustified.

Tell it like it is

Q: Should teachers be required to meet minimum competency standards on an annual basis. This week's question seemed too vague for most callers. While everyone felt minimum standards should be met, they differed on how that should be accomplished. The question received nine responses.

Darlene Struberg

"Yes, at least before they are considered for raises, retained for future employment or before being tenured. Some teachers seem to be there for the pay check. Some teachers aren't as dedicated as those who taught 30 years ago. The benefits and pay were less then than they are today." - Granite City

Dora Ann Moenster

"I believe all teachers should pass competency tests in each subject they will teach, prior to certification. Performance evaluations should be performed each semester and raises should be based on those evaluations." - Granite City

NEXT WEEK: Should Belleville Area College implement the Life-Safety Act, a one-time tax increase, to offset its $1.2 budget deficit for the 1986-87 school year?

Quote of the week

"I'M NOT A MINISTER but I am the mayor of Granite City," said Von Dee Cruse at the May 20 City Council meeting. Cruse was responding to criticism from area religious leaders who oppose his decision to grant National Super Market a liquor license.

Should shop for trash contract

Those aldermen who favored shopping for a better deal before awarding a $700,000 contract to Laidlaw Waste Systems Inc. are right.

There was no competition and the city spent nearly three-quarters of a million dollars, taxpayers' dollars, without knowing for sure that it was getting the most for its money.

Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer said it was unfair.

The likelihood of finding a company that could have given the city a lower bid for three years of sludge- and trash-hauling service is not great. Having started the bidding process could have caused the city to actually pay more, since Laidlaw would have had the opportunity to increase prices.

Still, it is a great amount of money to hand over without doing a little shopping. Another hauler might have wanted to do the same work for less.

But we'll never know. Whitmer said this is unfair. And we agree.

New look for libel suits

The Supreme Court's ruling that a private individual seeking damages for libel on matters of public concern has the burden of proving that the offending statements were false coupled with the increasing success of newspaper countersuits against individuals who file frivolous libel claims, puts a new light on what was becoming an increasingly ominous threat to newspapers.

The Court noted "there will always be instances when the fact-finding process will be unable to resolve conclusively whether the speech is true or false... and where the scales are in such an uncertain balance, we believe that the Constitution requires us to tip them in favor of protecting true speech."

This will make it more difficult for libel plaintiffs to win damages and, we hope, reduce the extravagant sums somejuries have awarded as damages.

Many newspapers are attacking the latter evil through countersuits for libel actions brought frivolously by individuals. Just last month a Florida paper won more than $25,000 in legal fees and court costs from an attorney whose suit against the paper was dismissed. The court upheld the newspaper's contention that it had been purely a nuisance suit.

This technique was started, to our knowledge, by the Charleston (W.Va.) Gazette in 1983. It has won other cases since then, as have others. The beauty of this technique, if it is pursued by other papers as well, is that it will act as a deterrent to nuisance suits and save everybody a lot of money.

Hopefully, these two developments may have a calming effect on the sea of libel which at times has been storm-tossed and threatening.

Farm situation could reach this area

To the editor:

The farm situation in Macon County, Ga., is one which may spread to other parts of the country through subsidized governmental farming. The fact of the matter is that if U.S. farmers are not subsidized against American government, they will become non-farmers.

Since Masstock International, a privately-owned Irish corporation, has recently planned to erect 10,000-cow dairies in Georgia, now Georgians are in the position of issuing tax-free industrial development bonds (issued by Georgia counties albeit unguaranteed by the taxpayer), to promote milk production at the same time as the whole herd buyout program to reduce the nation's milk surplus. On 7 percent to 8 percent money, Masstock will produce a product that could wind up being bought by the government as surplus. Meanwhile, Georgia dairymen are operating on 11 percent to 13 percent loans, with production far below their capacity.

More milk on the market would build the surplus, and that's not good for business. On the other hand, this so-called government surplus farming does seem to brighten prospects for employment. Somebody would have to raise their feed, and maybe replacement heifers. And there would be jobs available. Maybe not for the dairymen, but for people of the community.

Thirty-eight percent of the $1.8 billion dairy herd buyout program will be funded by an assessment on the remaining producers. Each farm owner will be charged 52 cents per hundredweight of milk produced by their cows through the end of this year. The legislation calls for that amount to drop to 25 cents for the first nine months of 1987.

Many are saying that the 1986 assessment level could cost producers between $50 and $60 per cow, and that the producers aren't sure they will be able to get the money anyway. But if herds or production are possibility exists that U.S. farmers will revert back to where they started from, economically. Prior to World War I, Cuba was diversified family crop farming and, until the sugar demand in Cuba had effected the change to specialized single crop sugar during the war, it was set at 24 cents a pound. The banks were weakened as a result, and the specialized single sugar dropped from 24 cents to less than 5 cents. The banks called for their loan payments, which the farmers couldn't pay, and the event resulted in the Cuban Farm Problem, 1934, which can now be compared with U.S. specialized diversified farming of sugar, corn and beef.

Georgian farmers have already begun responding to this change. Before long, heavy equipment will be moving dirt to build that big dairy, and things will never be quite the same after that.

Knowing about crime may be crime

By Paul Harvey

You need to know that there is a law against something called "Misprision of Felony."

In essence, it means that if you know about the actual commission of a felony and conceal it...

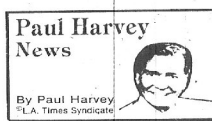

If you do not as soon as possible notify authorities...

You are guilty. You can be fined and/or imprisoned. And no, you cannot hide behind the "First Amendment!"

And our code of laws also states that you may not harbor or conceal any lawbreaker.

That brings us to what happens when a national television network interviews a fugitive from justice yet "conceals" his whereabouts. Terrorist Mohammed Abdul Abbas is a "wanted man," charged with the murder of wheelchair-bound Leon Klinghoffer aboard the Achille Lauro.

Abbas was interviewed on NBC, allowed to present himself as the victim, allowed to label our president "enemy number one" and to boast that he, Abbas, is next going to strike at targets in the United States.

For the 31st consecutive year he has held public office, U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., has released a detailed description of his income, assets and liabilities.

The listing predates disclosure requirements of state and federal law and continues to exceed those requirements. Simon also made public the detailed financial disclosure report of his administrative assistant, former Congressman Floyd Fithian, available upon request.

The Illinois senator lists 1985 gross income for himself and his wife, Jeanne, totaling $162,416.67 — up from the Simons' income of $112,770.35 in 1984. The figure includes his House and Senate salary, reimbursement for travel and other expenses, rental income, honoraria for appearances and other items.

The Simons had assets of $398,673 and liabilities of $287,597 for a net worth of $111,076.

District 9 briefs

Board approves special purchases

The school board approved three invoices for supplies and material to begin an area-wide Early Childhood program.

Due to late approval of the grant and the necessity of starting as soon as possible, Chapter 1 Director Steve Elen was authorized to purchase supplies and material from any source that could deliver by the programs' start date.

Two purchases were made from the Childcraft Corp. at a total of $1,693.50. One purchase was made from Kaplan School Supply Corp. for $497.05.

The board also approved invoices in excess of board policy to GCS Service Inc. for repair of two stoves in the Wilson School cafeteria.

The board also approved purchase of $6,378 worth of physical education supplies for the district.

Also approved was the purchase of nine cheerleading skirts to match existing uniforms. The board approved the $432.45 purchase without bids.

Board approves paper purchase

The school board approved the purchase of 160 reams of duplicator paper from the Collinsville School District at a cost of $3,000 last Tuesday.

District 9 has exceeded last year's use by more than 800 reams. Finance Director Norma Owen said the purchase would carry the district until it receives its order for the 1986-87 school year.

Collinsville sold the paper 1.88 cents cheaper than the district paid for the item from its supplier.

The board also approved the purchase of a $1018 stapler to be used to complete print orders by the end of the school year.

District 9 posts tentative budget

District 9 has made available for public inspection and given notice of a public hearing on a tentative budget for 1986-87.

The budget is available at the Board of Education office 20th and Adams streets during regular business hours.

A public hearing on the budget will be held at 7:30 p.m. on June 24.

Schools begin background checks

District 9 will begin checking the criminal history of employees hired after Dec. 2, 1985.

The board authorized an agreement with the Illinois State Police for the storage, collection and dissemination of criminal history records for all applicants and employees.

Background checks are required by the Illinois School Code.

Board agrees on staff changes

The School Board Tuesday approved the recall of three honorably dismissed teachers. Re-employed were Donna Carli, a special education teacher at the high school; Terry Yates, a sixth grade teacher at Webster School; and Susan Doty, a first grade teacher at Preather School.

Also employed was Mary Hamilton, a vocational nurse.

Approved was the retirement of Ida Mae Weiss, a middle primary teacher at Maryville School. Weiss' retirement becomes effective at the end of the school year.

Granted was a leave of absence for Doty Wills, a cafeteria worker at Coolidge Junior High School. Wills requested the leave from May 20 through June 3 due to an illness in her family.

Council denies zoning request

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Though unanimously backed by the Plan Commission, a land rezoning request was denied by the City Council Tuesday.

The request, made by Richard Kostoff, was to rezone property located at 25th and Center streets from single family (R-1) to a multi-family residence (R-5) and warehouse industrial (M-1). The planned use of the land was for a mini-warehouse and housing duplexes.

The plan commissioners, consisting of Marilyn Harris, Roger Miller, Andy Gitchoff, Ed Reingle, Chris Lewis and Charles Palus, voted unanimously at a meeting May 8 to approve the request.

BUT THE ALDERMEN voted 9-4 to deny the request.

Before the vote was taken, the aldermen were presented a petition by Joyce Hook, of 900 24th St., with 75 signatures of residents of the area opposing the rezoning. She said the residents were concerned about increased traffic on 24th, 25th and Center streets. These streets are very narrow, she said.

The petition also claimed the number of children in the area would increase if the housing was developed, which could cause over-crowding of the classrooms or the possibility of children being sent to other schools. Hook said there are about 44 school-age children living in the area.

"THERE WOULD BE a big burden on 24th and Center streets," said 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak, who moved not to concur with the commission's recommendation. "The streets could not handle the traffic which would be placed on these streets." "Twenty-Fourth Street is a very narrow street and Center is not wide at all," said 3rd Ward Alderwoman Paul Fisk. "There definitely would be a problem there."

Hydrants flushed

Illinois-American Water Co. will continue to test all fire hydrants within Granite City, Madison, Venice and Nameoki Township during the next two weeks.

Water pressure readings and gallons-per-minute flows will be calculated and documented.

The tests enable the company to determine the condition and the reliability of each hydrant.

The flushing requires huge amounts of water and there will be discoloration in tap water in the immediate area of the flushings. The water is safe to drink or use and will return to normal within a few hours, a spokesman said.

Areas to be tested during the next two weeks are the cities of Madison and Venice. The company started at State Street and is progressing toward Grand Avenue.

Garden club plants lilacs

Cloverview Garden Club members were entertained by President Mrs. Ray Williamson, 2450 Lynch Ave., with a dessert luncheon served to Mesdames Kenneth Brokaw, Clarence Etheridge, Charles Gandorla, George Knapp, Robert McCauley, B.C. O'Neill, Louise Sedlack, and by George Stearns.

Prior to the luncheon, the club met Steven Kessel, Wilson Park district superintendent, and a pink red bud tree was planted in memory of Anna Mae Jenkins.

Williamson opened the business session with the club giving the collect in union and roll call was each member naming her favorite fruit tree.

New year books were given to each member by O'Neill. It was announced that Williamson accepted a blue rosette for the club meeting state and district requirements for the year. State and region award for the press book of evidence was accepted by O'Neill. Also attending was Stearns.

Two Persian Lilac shrubs were planted at the Old Six Mile Historic Museum, one of the club projects for the year.

An invitation was received for the 47th annual luncheon sponsored by the Edwardsville Garden Club on June 5, and a District V workshop by Cahokia Garden Club.

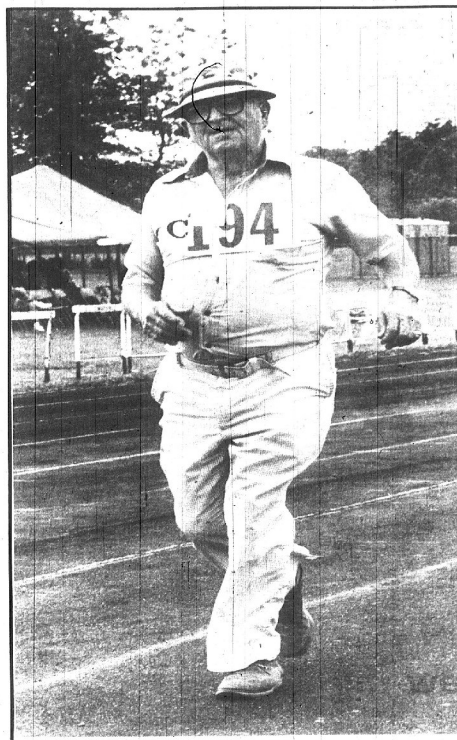

The August meeting will be at Brown's Recreation Center, and will be a special conservation program.

The study for the year is "Forest Trees of Illinois." This will be pot luck luncheon. The program starts at 11 a.m., lunch at noon, and a business meeting at 2 p.m.

A potted plant was given to Colonial Haven Nursing Home, as the monthly project.

Knapp spoke on the American Elm for the study. She said that the form of growth ate large trees up to 80 feet tall, the trunk diameter up to 4 feet, crown broadly rounded, or sometimes flat-topped, usually with drooping branchlets. The twigs are brown, slender, and sparsely hairy. The bark is light or dark gray, and has implements, shipbuilding. It is frequently planted as an ornamental and as a shade tree; greatly diminished in number by the Dutch Elm disease. Their habitat is bottomland woods along streams.

The club will recess for June and July, the president said.

Hierarch makes pastoral visit

The Orthodox community of Sts. Cyril and Methody, 4770 Maryville Road, had its hierarch, His Grace, the Right Rev. Kyrill, during the celebration of its patronal feast, May 10 and 11.

The bishop's see is Pittsburgh, and he oversees both the Diocese of Western Pennsylvania and the Bulgarian Diocese of Toledo, both under the jurisdiction of the Orthodox Church in America.

His grace is the first Bulgarian Orthodox bishop ordained on this continent; his consecration has ensured an Orthodox Church free of any possible interference from the communist government of Bulgaria. Under his leadership, parishes such as Sts. Cyril and Methody have adopted the English language as their liturgical language, and the revised Julian calendar as their own. The pastoral visit of the hierarch coincided with the celebration of his patronal feast — the Feast of Sts. Cyril and Methody, Saints "Equal to the Apostles" as the church designates them.

The first liturgical service of the feast, Great Vespers, with Litiya, was served in the presence of the hierarch by the church's rector, Rev. Father George E. Hretz, along with the orthodox clergy of the Metropolitan St. Louis area.

Before offering the Cross to the Faithful, the bishop expressed his great joy to be present with his community during a day of such great magnitude, a day not only commemorating his patronal saint and those of the community, but falling within the Paschal celebration as well. The vespers service was followed by a fellowship hour where area clergy and faithful were able to meet and speak with the bishop.

On the following day Bishop Kyrill was the main celebrant of the Divine Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom, and was assisted by Hretz, rector of the church. After the reading of the hours, Bishop Kyrill tonsured church vice-president, George Bakan of Allentown, as a reader in the Holy Orthodox Church. The bishop mentioned the many years of service given by Bakan in both the Nativity of the Virgin Mary and Sts. Cyril and Methody Churches. Following the tonsuring, Bakan was awarded a Reader's Cross by the bishop, a gift given by Hretz and his Matushka, Suzanna.

The bishop then celebrated the Divine Liturgy assisted by the rector. The homily was delivered by Hretz concerning the importance of the Sunday of St. Thomas and its relevance to those who wish to obscure the Person of Christ and what He has accomplished for us. The choir sang under the direction of Eleanor Todoroff. Following the celebration a feast day banquet, under the tutelage of Matushka Suzanna Hretz, was served.

A history of the parish was offered by Mary Tarpoff, church president. Hretz offered a short homily on the "Church in Via" and the bishop recounted some of the major achievements of the community, and offered advice concerning the well-being of the church.

Beaches, blue waters lure tourists

Pensacola, a haven of sugar-white gulf beaches with a relaxing lifestyle, beckons to those seeking a vacation spot.

Located just inside the western boundary of the Panhandle, Pensacola enjoys 343 days of sunshine in an average year, making it an appealing residential spot as well as a vacation paradise.

Visitors can spend the mornings on a championship golf course and the afternoons on beautiful beaches. Or they might choose to stroll through the shops of the historic Seville Square district.

Because of the myriad of attractions, millions of tourists are lured to Pensacola year after year to visit while thousands are drawn here to make their homes.

Establishing residence in Pensacola is not a new activity. Pensacola has the honor of being the nation's first settlement. The intriguing history encompasses 425 years since Don Tristan de Luna and 1,500 Spanish troops and colonists landed on Pensacola's shores in 1559.

While Pensacola offers a congenial life immersed in quaint, Old World flavor of the past, all the conveniences of modern living are available.

A half dozen major industries and a Naval Air Station contribute to consistently high rates of employment, which is complemented by an array of retail and wholesale businesses where a high volume and large variety of trade is transacted. And, although Pensacola is a center of trade for numerous surrounding towns, this city with no polluting industry is known for its cleanliness.

As the largest city in northwest Florida, Pensacola has the ideal location and perfect climate that are keys to a thriving future and are the basis of a successful past.

Location

Pensacola, the seat of Escambia County, Fla., is situated in the extreme northwestern corner of the state - and is the closest resort city in the Sunshine State to most other parts of the country. Atop a somewhat easy slope, the city is bordered on the south by Pensacola Bay, an expanse of water several miles wide. This bay is separated from the Gulf of Mexico by a long, narrow island on which Pensacola Beach is located. This island, known as Santa Rosa Island, forms a natural breakwater for the harbor.

Altitude in the city ranges from sea level to more than 120 feet in certain residential areas. Travelers arrive in Pensacola by passing through hilly sections in northern Escambia County.

Main arteries reaching Pensacola include I-10, which runs east and west across the northern edge of the city; Hwy. 90 and 98 (east, west routes) and Hwy. 29, a north-bound road.

Climate

Pensacola's proximity (six miles) to the Gulf of Mexico allows city dwellers to benefit from the water's moderating effect.

Tempering the cold north winds of winter, the gulf is equally responsible for the cool, refreshing breezes that break the daytime heat in summer.

Situated in a warm, temperate zone, Pensacola has a mild climate typical of the region along the upper gulf coast. The city averages 343 days of the year in which sunshine occurs, and the average annual temperature is 68 degrees. The average annual percentage of sunshine is 66 percent, with an average annual precipitation of about 66 inches.

Unusual weather phenomena such as hurricanes and tornadoes have occurred, but such phenomena are far less frequent or severe in Pensacola than in many parts of the Southeastern United States.

V.P. Fair still America's biggest party

The 1986 Veiled Prophet Fair may take a temporary back seat to the national celebration of the Statue of Liberty's centennial unveiling in New York City, but V.P. Fair will still be the largest, on-going celebration of its kind and also the largest free fair in the country.

"We've found the right formula for making the fair more appealing to families and are strengthening this objective in 1986," said James S. McDonnell III, General Chairman of the Fair.

"Our committees are organized, volunteers are signing up and plans are falling into place," he said.

The Location

This year's three-day event will be held on the grounds of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial under the Arch. The area of the fair also includes Leonor K. Sullivan Boulevard (formerly Wharf Street), and the roof top level of the new Bi-State Parking Garage on the north end of the Arch grounds. The fair is scheduled to begin on July 4.

The Parade

The Veiled Prophet Parade will take place in downtown St. Louis beginning at 6:30 p.m. It's the largest parade in the Midwest. The 150-unit parade will follow the same route as last year: 14th to Olive, east on Olive to Tucker, north on Tucker to Washington, east on Washington to Fourth, south on Fourth to Market and west on Market to Tucker.

The parade is expected to attract 500,000 spectators. It's theme is "America the Beautiful." Twenty-two floats depicting this theme are scheduled to appear in the parade.

Some of the floats will be recreated from past years' parades. Others will be designed especially for the 1986 event.

The Veiled Prophet and his 1986 Queen of Love and Beauty, Jennifer Knight, will also appear in the parade on a special float.

Numerous award-winning bands from throughout the Midwest will participate in this year's spectacular parade. Some of these will be vying for one of the cash prizes in the "1986 Freedom Festival Marching Band Contest."

In addition there will be a number of dancers, performers, horse units, children's characters, miniature train, antique cars, clowns and fireworks.

Activities

A major entertainment feature will be the McDonnell Douglas Air Show - the largest, most spectacular show in the country. Included in the 1986 air events will be a number of military and private aircraft, skydivers, parachutists, hot air balloons and stunt performers.

The F-15 fighter will give demonstrations, as well as the famed "Harrier." Both of these aircraft manufactured by McDonnell Douglas. On the ground, a static F-15 display will be available to visitors.

An enlarged Children's Village by the South Pond will provide families with special exhibits, na-gicians, clowns, displays, giant inflatable toys and Six Flags entertainment. "Top 40" groups will appear on the North Pond stage.

Country singer Dolly Parton

A special dance pavilion will showcase entertainers and the general public. A performing arts pavilion for showcasing local arts groups is a new addition this year.

Other activities include the VP Fair Run (5K and 10K), the Critterum (bicycle race), a photo contest and a Rhythm and Blues Stage featuring Caribbean music. This stage will be located on the north end of Leonor K. Sullivan Boulevard.

Other significant entertainment groups will appear on the Riverfront Overlook Stage. Kroger Village just south of the Arch will feature river boat and jazz music. There will be five JUV Comfort stations for free diaper changes, there will be eight telephone service centers, a tent for disabled, the lost children's area and the Overlook Stage.

Ceremonies

Opening ceremonies are planned to be held on the Riverfront Overlook beginning at 9 a.m. on July 4. Local, state and national officials, civic leaders and celebrities will be present. John Poelker, former St. Louis mayor, is the 1986 VP Fair Honorary Chairman. On July 4, the Delta Queen and the Mississippi Queen steamboats also are planning to complete their annual "New Orleans to St. Louis" race on the riverfront at 9 a.m.

Gift To The City

This year's gift to the community will conclude the project of the Riverfront Promenade. This $2.8 million plan is expected to be completed before the fair. This is a combined gift of the city, the state, Southwestern Bell Telephone and the VP Fair.

Revenues from fairs held in 1980-1982 have made it possible for lights to be installed on the Eads Bridge and for the Riverfront Overlook to be built on Leonor K. Sullivan Boulevard just below the Arch.

Other monies raised at the fair go to numerous charities and non-profit organizations.

Volunteers

"The VP Fair's strength is the success that it is because of the financial support of businesses and individuals and because of the 20,000 volunteers who want the world to know how proud they are to live, work and play in a community like St. Louis," said Charles Wallace, VP Fair Foundation

President and Executive Director of the fair.

"The work performed by our volunteers continually has made the fair successful. Many of the same people and organizations come back each year just to help because they want to be a part of the fair," he said.

"Without this help, we frankly couldn't do it."

Now that the fair has become a nationally recognized event, this year organizers are planning a campaign to get St. Louis businesses and residences throughout the area to display the nation's flag during the three days of the festival.

The St. Louis VP Fair is no longer an event," said Wallace.

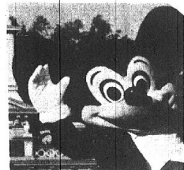

"It's now a tradition... attracting the interest of the entire country to the St. Louis area as we put on 'America's Biggest Ongoing Birthday Celebration.'"

The Fair

The 1986 fair will run continuously through Sunday, July 6, targeting its activities for families. Visitors will be prohibited from bringing glass, bottles or alcoholic beverages onto the grounds.

The fair will continue to present the top line major entertainers for each night of the fair.

Entertainers include nationally acclaimed song and dance man Ben Vereen; nightclub entertainer Lola Falana, who will appear on the main stage under the Arch on Friday, July 4 at 8:30 p.m.; and Dolly Parton is scheduled to perform on Saturday, July 5. The Sunday evening main stage entertainment will feature Russ David's Orchestra and a special review of St. Louis talent celebrities.

Walt Disney Medley

In keeping with its family theme, organizers have contracted with Walt Disney Productions for a special show for children each day. Walt Disney characters will not only perform on the main stage under the Arch, but will meet and greet children between shows.

Other Entertainment

A variety of other entertainment for families will be featured on 12 satellite stages located in key positions throughout the fairgrounds. Following the top star attractions, a spectacular fireworks display will conclude each day. Displays July 4 and 5 will be sponsored by the Suburban Journals.

Many nationalities and ethnic groups will be performing on the International Village Stage, and nearly 70 booths, representing numerous foreign countries, will sell a variety of ethnic foods on the south end of Leonor K. Sullivan Boulevard.

From convenient approaches in Illinois, Eads Bridge places the automobile driver at the heart of Downtown St. Louis.

NOW.....THERE'S A BETTER WAY TO TRAVEL.....BETWEEN ILLINOIS COMMUNITIES AND DOWNTOWN ST. LOUIS

Keep your eye on "new" EADS BRIDGE

When EADS BRIDGE opened more than 100 years ago, it provided the only fast, safe way across the Mississippi River.

But as vehicular traffic continually increased, new bridges were built and by 1986 these bridges became virtual parking lots. EADS BRIDGE, however, is once again coming to the rescue as the fastest, easiest way to get across the river.

Extensive repairs have been made to EADS BRIDGE, and other repairs, including resurfacing, are scheduled for this Spring.

To further speed traffic along this fast, direct route between communities along the East side of the Mississippi River and St. Louis four modern toll collection stations have been installed - two in each direction. Use of modernized EADS BRIDGE will benefit those living in Illinois communities from Alton to Belleville along the Mississippi, as well as users of Interstate Highways 55, 70, 64 and Illinois Rt. 3.

So don't stand in long lines of traffic to cross the Mississippi. After all, it's estimated that even after a minimal toll a typical EADS BRIDGE user may daily save a dollar in gasoline expense and as much as 20 minutes time in each direction.

Why not get acquainted with world-famous EADS BRIDGE. Save time, money and your nerves. Let an old friend put more economy and leisure in your life. Enter St. Louis at the foot of Washington Avenue right at the heart of the shopping and business centers. Here ample parking is available and easy access to the Interstate Highways.

Keep your eye on "new" EADS BRIDGE as extensive modernization work is completed.

Mexican meals a festival

The Mexican national holiday celebrated on the fifth of May, Cinco de Mayo, is a time for lively feasting with friends and family. It provides a great reason to try a hand at Mexican cooking for a celebration dinner.

Even though the holiday falls on Monday this year, the festivities still can be enjoyed. Just for the occasion, try a pair of quick and easy fiesta recipes that are ideal for time-pressed after-work cooks.

Pollo con Comino (POE-yo cone coh-ME-no) begins with chicken breasts, a favorite menu mainstay on both sides of the Mexican border. To prepare, a savory blend of oregano, garlic salt and ground cumin is rubbed into the meat before browning. To streamline the way to authentic Mexican flavor, the chicken is gently cooked in a cumin-flavored liquid seasoned with picante sauce, to give the dish its garden-fresh, south-of-the-border taste.

Potatoes quesas
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tbsp. oil

ante sauce, water and instant bouillon, mixing well. Pour over chicken in skillet. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Cover tightly and simmer 30 to 40 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken to serving platter. Keep warm.
Cook and stir sauce mixture in skillet over medium-high heat until liquid is reduced and sauce is slightly thickened.

Skim fat from sauce. Drizzle over chicken. Serve with additional picante sauce.
Makes 4 servings.

Potatoes quesas

1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tbsp. oil

1 1/2 lb. potatoes (about 2 large or 3 medium), peeled and cut into 1/2 inch cubes (about 2 1/2 cups)
1/2 cup water
1 lb. process cheese spread, diced (1 cup)
1/2 to 3/4 cup picante sauce
2 tbsp. chopped cilantro or parsley

Cook onion and garlic in oil in 10-inch skillet until tender but not brown.

Add potatoes and water. Cover tightly and cook until potatoes are tender, about 15 minutes.

Drain off water. Add cheese and picante sauce. Stir gently until cheese is melted.
Sprinkle with cilantro. Serve with Pollo con Comino and additional picante sauce.
Makes 4 servings.

FIESTA FOODS are appropriate anytime the family is ready for a change of pace.

Parmesan bread

Combine 1/2 cup soft margarine, 1/4 cup (1 oz.) parmesan cheese, 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, 1/4 teaspoon basil leaves and 1/8 teaspoon garlic salt. Mix well.

Spread each with margarine mixture. Place on ungreased cookie sheet.

Bake at 400° for 6 minutes or until golden brown.

Greasy pans

Instead of throwing away the paper wrappers from sticks of butter, they can be used to butter cake pans and muffin tins. Fold the butter-side in and put them in the freezer in a plastic bag.

TEXAS TACOS add snap and fiber to a snack. The crunch of taco shells, corn and spicy seasoning could be just the ticket for a quick lunch.

Tacos a snack with snap

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- 2 tsp. chili powder
- 1/2 tsp. cumin
- 1 (12 oz.) can whole kernel corn
- 1 medium tomato, chopped
- 12 taco shells
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 2 cups shredded lettuce
- Taco sauce, if desired

In large skillet, brown ground beef with onion and garlic. Drain. Add ketchup, chili powder, cumin, corn and tomato. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Heat taco shells in oven at 250° for 3 to 5 minutes. Spoon about 1/2 cup meat mixture into each shell. Top each with cheese and lettuce. Serve with taco sauce.

Spicy, cheesy chicken

- 1 (about 3 lb.) chicken, cut in parts
- 1 cup margarine, melted
- 1 pkg. (1.31 oz.) nacho cheese sauce mix
- 1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
- 1/2 tsp. cumin
- 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 box (10 oz.) cheese flavored crackers, crushed into fine crumbs
- 2 tsp. taco seasoning mix

In medium bowl, mix together margarine, nacho cheese sauce mix, cayenne, cumin and garlic powder.

In separate bowl, mix together cracker crumbs and taco seasoning mix.

Place chicken, one piece at a time, first in margarine mixture, then in cracker mixture, dredging to coat on all sides. Place chicken, skin-side up, in single layer on large flat baking sheet.

Bake, uncovered, in 375° oven about 40 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Makes 4 servings.

Patio party chicken spices your festivals

- 12 chicken thighs
- 3 tbsp. butter
- 1 tsp. seasoned salt
- 1 can (15 oz.) chili without beans
- 1 large avocado, peeled, diced
- 1 small tomato, diced
- 1/2 cup black olives, chopped
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 12 cherry tomatoes
- 1 small avocado, peeled, sliced lengthwise
- Fresh parsley

In large shallow glass baking dish, place butter. Microwave on high 30 seconds or until butter is melted.

Add chicken, turning to coat. Sprinkle with salt. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on high 10 minutes. Rotate dish half turn and continue to microwave on high 10 minutes more.

Remove from microwave. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes. Return to microwave for additional cooking if fork cannot be inserted in chicken with ease when testing for doneness.

Remove chicken from baking dish. Drain. Set aside.

In medium microwave-proof bowl, place chili. Cover and microwave on high 3 minutes, stirring once halfway through cooking.

Remove from microwave. Stir in diced avocado, diced tomato, olives and onion.

Spoon chili mixture over chicken. Sprinkle with cheese. Return chicken, covered, to microwave.

Microwave on high 45 seconds, or until cheese is melted.

Remove from microwave. Garnish with cherry tomatoes, avocado slices and parsley. Makes 6 servings.

High fiber diet brings benefits

High fiber diets are nothing new. Our great-grandparents ate diets that were very high in fiber. Over the years, however, the American diet has changed. We now consume more meat, fats and refined foods. Ethnic dishes containing beans, lentils or cabbage are no longer a daily menu item. Fiber containing parts of grain have been milled out and replaced with white flour. We drink large amounts of fruit juice instead of eating unpeeled fresh fruit. Vegetables occupy a smaller part of the dinner plate.

What is fiber, and how do we get it? Fiber is the part of the food that resists digestion. Only foods from plants contain fiber. There is no fiber in meat, fish, poultry, eggs or milk.

There are five kinds of fiber—cellulose, hemicellulose, lignin, pectin, gums and mucilages. To assure a balanced intake of all these fiber sources, it is recommended to daily eat fresh fruit, vegetables and legumes as well as bran and whole wheat. High fiber diets are beneficial in many ways, not just in the treatment of constipation. In weight loss, high fiber foods are low in calories and provide a feeling of fullness. They take longer to eat and require more chewing. Present research indicates that increasing the amount of fiber is valuable in the treatment of diabetes, diverticulitis, cardiac artery disease and in the prevention of cancer of the colon.

Here is a bran muffin recipe that everyone, can enjoy, even diabetics.

Banana muffins

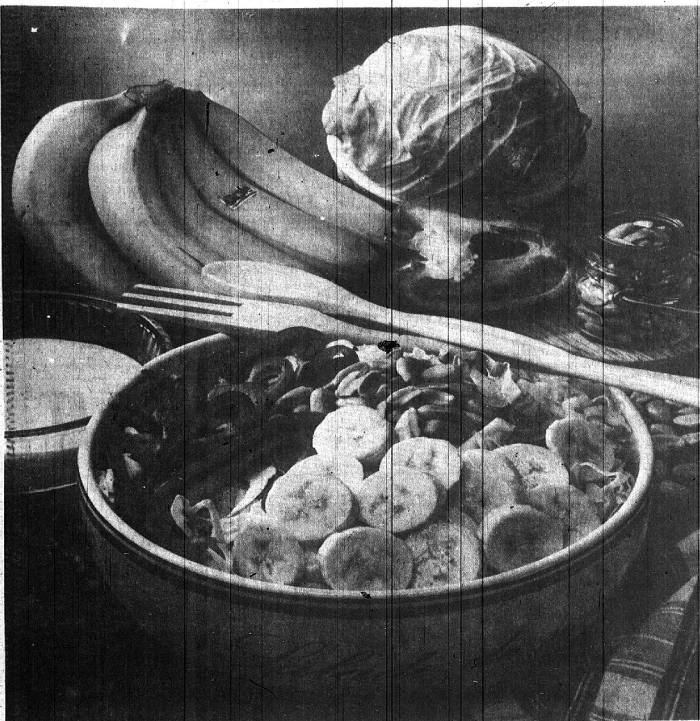

Diabetic Diet, Reduced Weight Diet, High Fiber Diet

Calories 104; Carbohydrates 15; Protein 2; Fat 4; Sodium 118; Potassium 176; Fiber 1.4
Ingredients:
1 egg
1/2 cup skim milk
1 1/2 cups mashed, very ripe bananas (about 3 medium)

1/2 cup white flour
1/2 cup unprocessed bran
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/8 tsp. salt

Beat egg, oil and milk. Stir in bananas.
Mix dry ingredients together and stir into banana mixture until flour is moistened.
Fill tins 3/4 full.
Bake about 25 minutes.
Let cool about 15 minutes before removing from pans to let texture firm up.

Onion combo

Peel and thinly slice 3 medium sweet Spanish onions to make 6 cups or more. Shred carrots to make 1 cup. Sauté onions and carrots in butter or margarine 3 to 4 minutes.
Add 1/2 cup beef broth and cook, stirring occasionally, until onions are tender.
Stir in 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, salt and pepper to taste.
Serves 4.

EVEN SALAD needs a little surprise now and then. Coleslaw is no exception. Spring the smooth sweetness of bananas and dressing, the crunch of cabbage, red bell pepper and peanuts on your family.

Policy insures flood protection problems

Spring is flood season in many parts of the country, and officials of the federal government's National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) caution that homeowners' insurance does not cover losses from flooding.

However, this important financial protection is available in communities that participate in the NFIP, said Jeffrey S. Bragg, head of the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA), which oversees the NFIP operation.

"But it isn't automatic; the property owner must purchase the coverage from any property and casualty insurance agent or broker," he said.

There are nearly 18,000 communities throughout the country that have agreed to adopt and enforce floodplain management ordinances.

"This action on the part of the community makes flood insurance available to owners of property in the community, including renters who may insure their contents in a rented property," Bragg said.

He emphasized that buildings that are not in special flood hazard areas also may be insured. "In fact, almost 35 percent of the claims paid by the NFIP are for losses that occurred in areas thought to have only minimal to moderate flood risk," Bragg reported.

The FIA, part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, is working to inform the public about the availability of flood insurance because there are so many buildings exposed to a flood risk that are not covered.

"There are nearly two million NFIP policyholders, but estimates are there are between six and eight million insurable buildings exposed to a risk of flooding. This means there could be as many as four million uninsured buildings," Bragg warned.

While flood insurance may be purchased through any insurance agent, the FIA recently initiated a new program that allows insurance companies to offer coverage under their own names through arrangements with FIA. These arrangements provide the companies financial assurance for their flood insurance business.

The coverage and costs of flood insurance are the same, whether a policy is written directly with the NFIP or through one of the companies with arrangements with the FIA. The advantage of purchasing flood insurance from a company may be improved service.

While an insurance agent should offer the most specific information about flood insurance, NFIP does have a toll-free information telephone system. Call 1-800-638-6620.

WILD SCALLOP SKILLET is delicious and ready in a jiffy if you're one of those after 5 microwave cooks.

'After 5' cooks want quick meal

More people are becoming part of that ever-growing number of "after-5" cooks who want great meals in short order.

Exciting meals starring fresh and nutritious ingredients are easy to prepare in about 30 minutes. The key is combining seasonal produce and quick-cooking meats, poultry or fish with high-quality convenience foods.

Fish fillets, chicken breasts and small, well-trimmed steaks, for example, provide high-quality protein and require only minutes to cook. Teamed with a salad or stir-fried vegetables and a convenient rice accompaniment, a natritious, delicious meal is at hand when dinner preparations are delayed.

Seafood aficionados will love Wild Scallop Skillet. Tender bay scallops combine with rice, colorful cherry tomatoes and green onions for a delicious one-dish meal.

Scallop skillet

- 1 lb. bay scallops or quartered sea scallops
- 2 tbsp. butter
- 2 cups water
- 1 pkg. (6½ oz.) fast-cooking long grain and wild rice
- 8 to 10 cherry tomatoes, halved

- 2 green onions with tops, sliced
- ¼ tsp. freshly grated lemon peel

Saute scallops in butter in 10-inch skillet until cooked through, about 1 minute on each side. Remove from skillet and reserve, draining excess liquid.

Add water to skillet. Stir in contents of rice and seasoning packets. Bring to a vigorous boil. Cover tightly and simmer until all water is absorbed, about 5 minutes.

Stir in tomatoes, green onions, lemon peel and reserved scallops. Heat through.

Makes 6 servings.

Beef with wine

- 6 strips of beef tenderloin steaks (4 oz. each), seasoned with freshly cracked black pepper, or as desired

- 2 tsp. cornstarch
- ¾ cup water
- ¾ cup dry red wine
- ½ tsp. beef bouillon granules
- ½ cup thinly sliced fresh mushrooms
- ¾ cup finely chopped green onions

Cook steaks in butter in large skillet over medium-high heat about 5 minutes, turning once for medium.

Meanwhile, add water to medium saucepan. Stir in contents of rice and seasoning packets. Bring to a vigorous boil. Cover tightly and simmer until all water is absorbed, about 5 minutes.

Remove beef from skillet; keep warm. Drain fat.

Dissolve cornstarch in water. Add wine, bouillon, cornstarch mixture and mushrooms to skillet.

Heat over high heat, stirring and scraping up any brown bits, until thickened. Stir green onions into rice. Serve rice with beef. Spoon sauce over beef. Makes 6 servings.

Sausage oriental

- 1 green pepper, chunked
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 small tomato, cut into ½-inch pieces
- 1 lb. smoked sausage, cut into ½-inch pieces

Rx for Flu or Chicken Pox: Kindness

Be good to yourself when you've got the flu or chicken pox. Take it easy. Get plenty of rest. Viral illnesses such as these are usually self-limiting. Time will cure them.

Check with your doctor about using medications to treat flu or chicken pox. For children—including teenagers—medications such as aspirin and aspirin-containing products may not be a good idea. A rare but dangerous condition called Reye syndrome may develop in young people just when they appear to be recovering. Studies suggest a link between the development of Reye and the use of aspirin to treat the flu or chicken pox.

So, treat yourself right when you've got the flu!

Natural energy - put it to work for you.

A heat pump uses the sun to cut energy costs.

Natural energy from the sun keeps you warm in the summer—too warm, much of the time. But in winter, it'll leave you cold.

A heat pump uses solar energy to do something the sun could never quite manage—keep you comfortable year round.

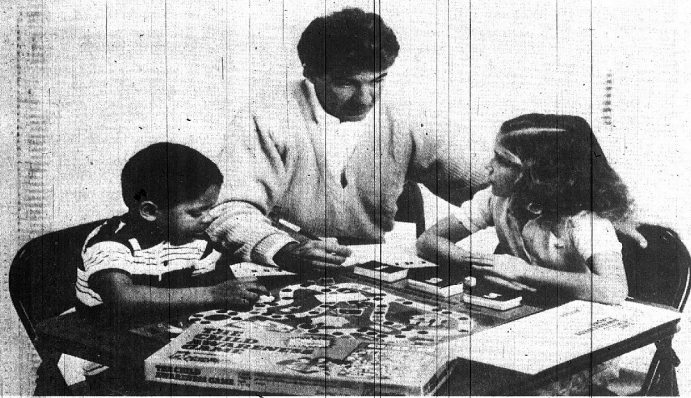

In summer, it pumps excess heat out of the house. In the winter, it gathers natural warmth and pumps it indoors to cut heating costs 20% to 40%.

To learn everything under the sun about what a heat pump can do for you, call the Marketing Advisor at your local Illinois Power Customer Service Center.

Adults and kids can play the new child awareness game

New game diminishes rivalry

In a frightening situation, would you child know what to do to protect himself?

What if you were shopping in your local mall, for example? Your young son says he's going to the restroom and will meet you back at the close-by furniture store where you plan to shop next. But, when he comes out of the restroom, he discovers he's lost. What should he do?

1. Ask the nearest cashier for directions.
2. Ask the nearest cashier to page you.

The correct answer is No. 2. If you selected that answer, you are on your way to winning the Child Awareness Game, now being sold by K mart stores in response to public concern over missing children.

The table game, one of several released since the television movie "Adam," is the first to be endorsed by the non-profit Adam Walsh Child Resource Center and its founders, John and Reva Walsh.

K mart, which has also been involved in photographing and finger printing children, will contribute $1 of the $12.99 game price to the Center.

"This is something that is unusual for us," said Bill Seubert, manager of the K mart at 8800 Watson Road in Webster Groves. "We haven't backed anything else quite as staunchly."

Seubert said he anticipates light sales.

"We're doing it as more of a service than anything else," Seubert said. "We just want to have it for parents who feel it would be helpful."

The game consists of answering questions concerning problems that arise in everyday circumstances. The first person to answer enough questions to spell out "Child Awareness" wins.

The intent of the game is made evident by the time it was made available for sale - most games are released at Christmas.

"It's geared for the end of the school year, when there's more free time," Seubert said. "There's a greater likelihood of running into an incident because the kids are in the pool or on the playground."

Walsh said he likes the game because it teaches child safety in a non-threatening way. The game, in light colors, calls on the parent to encourage the child when the right answer is given.

"I don't think the people who made the game claim to be psychiatrists," Seubert said. "It's just to make the kids think."

Growing up, Doctors advocate discipline reforms

Illinois physicians will work hard to help the state "better discipline those who abuse the privilege of medical practice," Dr. Allan L. Goslin announced last week.

"We want legislation that gives the state and its physicians the right to prevent any bad doctor from caring for any patient," said the Illinois State Medical Society's president-elect.

Goslin's remarks came in response to an announcement, by Gov. James R. Thompson and the Governor's Task Force on Medical Discipline, of 20 recommended reforms in Illinois' system regulating and disciplining medical practitioners. The 16,000 member Illinois State Medical Society vowed its active advocacy and leadership to press for General Assembly adoption of the reforms.

"We have a long record of proposing and supporting legislation to improve discipline," Goslin said. "The governor's proposals will give us the opportunity to play a meaningful, active, aggressive and substantive role in the state regulated disciplinary process."

Goslin also said the genesis of medical discipline came from an earlier Governor's Task Force on Medical Malpractice which last year recommended medical malpractice reforms. "They asked the medical and legal professions 'to improve discipline,'" Goslin said, "and medicine took this request to heart."

Because Illinois' medical community is actively pursuing civil justice reforms for medical malpractice, Goslin asserted it is especially important physicians make a parallel commitment to strong medical discipline.

"We think the governor's legislation is a giant step toward getting rid of bad doctors, and we welcome the opportunity for a more direct, active role in the process."

Flyers' magic KOs Warriors

By Gregg Ochoa

Executive Sports Editor
COLLINSVILLE — Call it frustration. Call it a hex. Either way, it adds up to a loss for the Granite City baseball team.

Top-seeded East St. Louis rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh and edged Granite City 3-2 in the Collinsville Regional semifinals last Saturday at Fletcher Field.

The loss ended the Warriors' season at 22-13.

"I guess it's just not supposed to be," said Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier. "We just can't beat them over here."

Last year, the Warriors lost to the Flyers 3-2 in the regionals at Collinsville.

Still, it didn't take a person with mystic powers to predict the margin of victory. Over the past two years, East St. Louis and Granite City have played five one-run games. East St. Louis is 4-1 in those contests.

"I really can't explain it," said Flyers coach Art May. "It's amazing. It's just a case of both teams wanting to beat the other real bad."

Trailing 1-0 going into the seventh, Granite City plated two runs off Flyers starter Terry Westerfield, which, at the time, looked like enough to win.

Jim Chomko opened the inning with a hit and moved to second on Doug Partney's ground out. Fred Becker then drew a walk. Todd Adamits singled to load the bases. Jamie Hogan then ripped a fastball up the middle, scoring two runs. Hogan was then forced at second base to end the inning.

"Terry shed a few tears when he came back to the dugout," said May. "He was really upset. But I told him we were going to let him stay in and the only way we had a chance to win was if he got a hit."

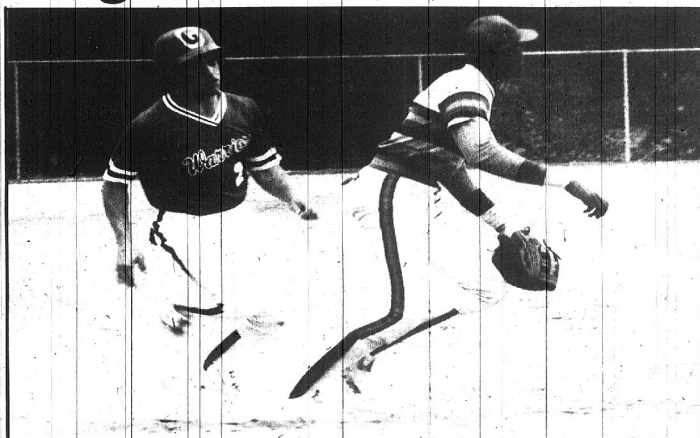

Westerfield did just that. He golfed a sidearm fastball from Eric Gray deep to left field for a double to lead off the inning.

"We had been getting him out with curve balls all day, but we threw him a fastball inside and when you do that you are asking for trouble," Stegemeier said.

Lawrence Moore followed with a single, putting runners on first and third. Darin Hendrickson replaced Gray, but Darris Company then doubled to left, scoring both runners to win the game.

"That was a key hit," said May. "Probably the biggest hit of his career."

Company, a 210 hitter coming into the game, ripped Hendrickson's third pitch into the left field corner.

CLOSE PLAY: The Warriors' Fred Becker reaches first base on an error in the fifth inning as East St. Louis first baseman Ken Wilson waits for the throw. The Flyers beat Granite City 3-2 in the Collinsville Regionals.

The loss wasted a fine pitching effort by Scott LeVault. The junior right-hander surrendered just four hits, struck out six and walked just two.

"Scotty was outstanding," said Stegemeier. "He shouldn't have had any runs scored against him."

The lone run East St. Louis scored off LeVault, bidding to win his seventh game of the year, was tainted.

Two errors and a bloop single to shallow center field by Dave Edwards allowed East St. Louis to break a scoreless tie in the fifth inning.

Gray, who relieved in the seventh after LeVault's shoulder started to tighten, was tagged with the loss. It was his first of the season.

Gray, who had pitched Thursday in the Warriors' 12-8 win over Lincoln in the first round, was rocked for two quick hits.

"He told me he was ready, but I guess I should have known better," Stegemeier said. "But you always hope against hope."

Westerfield, a sophomore, was effective for East St. Louis. He pitched seven innings, walked three

Fateful fourth does in girls against Brazier

By Dave Whaley

JERSEYVILLE — It was inevitable. All season long, Jim Davis knew his Granite City girls softball team would probably go up against Roanna Brazier and the Civic Memorial Eagles early in the postseason.

It happened Saturday in the semifinals of the Jerseyville Regional, and Davis' script for success against the most dominant pitcher in the area was going to form. If the Warriors could get great pitching from Amy Moss and somehow scratch out a run, there was always a chance.

But when Granite City got three hits in the fourth inning and still failed to score, one got the feeling the year would soon be over for the Warriors. In the bottom of the fourth, Terri Hansel ripped a two-out, three-run triple to break a scoreless tie and boost the Eagles, 2-4, to a 5-0 win and a berth in the regional final, which was played Tuesday afternoon in Jerseyville.

The Warriors finished the season at 11-16 knowing they had played well against one of the best teams in the state.

"Our girls gave it everything they had," Davis said. "How good a pitcher is Brazier? Bethalto has started each of my three years by beating us, and they have ended our year each time. We haven't scored a run in six games."

It would be tough to say the senior lefthander wasn't at her best, because she had 15 strikeouts in the game. Yet she allowed four hits, an unheard of total for a hurler who has seven no-hitters this year.

And when the Warriors reached Brazier for three hits in the fourth, even CM coach Jeff Dyer couldn't remember the last time his meal ticket was touched for that many. Brazier fanned seven in the first three innings, with only Karen Sykes reaching base on an error. But she was cut down trying to steal second in the first.

Sandy Sternberg began the fourth by pushing a bunt past Brazier for the first hit. But she was thrown out stealing on a good throw by catcher Denise Madison. As it turned out, that was a critical play.

With two outs, Keri Holtkamp singled to right and went to third (See SOFTBALL, page 2D)

Young 2nd in triple jump

CHARLESTON — Reggie Young was the lone member of the Madison boys track team to place in the state meet over the weekend, finishing second in the triple jump.

The senior jumped 46 feet, 1 1/2 inches to nail down second in the state behind Nashville's Gary Crone, who won with a jump of 47 feet, 1/2-inch.

Young's jump gave the Trojans their only eight points of the meet, leaving them in a tie for 30th place in Class A. Chicago Luther won the team title with 48 points.

In Class AA, the East St. Louis Flyers finished a disappointing tie for fourth in the meet with 32 points, the same as Blue Island Eisenhower. North Chicago won the title with 39 points. Decatur MacArthur was second with 38 and Chicago Heights Bloom was third with 36.

Individually, however, it was a good meet for the Flyers' Arthur Sargent, who won the 300 meter hurdles with a time of 35.98 seconds, a new state record. Greg Foster of Provido East had a 36.0 in 1973. Sargent just missed the national record of 35.32 seconds.

Sargent also rallied the Flyers to a victory in the 1600 meter relay with a strong run in the anchor position.

when Kim Armour looped a single into left field. Armour took second on the throw and the Warriors were threatening.

Brazier took matters into her own hands by fanning Alicia Melton to end the threat.

"We need to do something about their intensity level sometimes," Dyer said. "The first couple of innings, it was anybody's game. And in the fourth, it was one wild pitch and they're ahead. That's why I was doing some ranting and raving. I have to build a fire under them sometimes."

As tough as the top of the fourth was for Granite City, the bottom half was even worse.

Madison led off with a single, and with one out Michelle Dickerson lofted a shallow fly ball into left-center. Sternberg made a long run, but the ball went off her glove. Kari McDonough walked after a two-strike pitch just missing Moss got Amy Paris to pop up for the second out.

Hansel, however, lined a 2-1 pitch into the alley in left center to clear the bases and end the game for all practical purposes.

"Once Brazier gets a couple of runs, it's tough," Davis said. "That was a tough inning. Sandy ran a long way for that ball. It was a terrific effort. But I thought we had McDonough struck out on one pitch. That was what really hurt."

Of his decision to let Sternberg steal before the two hits in the top of the fourth, Davis said there was no second-guessing.

"When you get runners on against a great pitcher, you've got to do everything you can to score them," he said. "And she has terrific control. It just happened on both steal attempts, she pitched high and outside, which made it easy for the catcher to handle the pitch and throw. We won't get many chances against her."

The Eagles, ranked No. 4 in the state, unloaded on Moss for three triples in the fifth to finish the scoring. Madison, who reached on an error, missed second base as she toured the bases on a triple by Brazier, costing CM a run, but Dickerson followed with a three-bagger for the final run.

"A lot of times when we score a couple of runs, the game is over," Dyer said. "But Granite City is a team that won't quit. If we make a couple of mistakes, they're back in it."

"But our seniors really want to win this year. We've got to state and lost up there for two years. If we hit and play defense, we can beat anybody, because we have the pitching."

Brazier had at least two strikeouts in each inning except the sixth and fanned the side in the second and fifth. Armour seemingly had her all figured out, as she singled twice, the second one a hard shot down the left field line. "That was probably the most anybody has pulled the ball on her in a long time," Davis said. "With Kim and Holkamp and some of the others, we will score runs next year. I just hope we can get the pitching. The attitude has been terrific all year. And you have to be proud of the way they played today against maybe the best team in the state."

NOTES: It was the final game for three seniors: Sykes, Melton and Moss. "We'll miss all our seniors," Davis said. "But they're going to college, and that's the important thing. Sykes and Moss will play at Lewis and Clark Community College, while Melton is planning to attend the University of Missouri, although Davis said she has no plans to play softball. Brazier has a full scholarship to the University of Kansas. Her sister, Annette, pitches at Missouri.

Lombardi, Gaumer in final 16 of consolation

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Granite City's Robbie Lombardi and Bill Gaumer reached the round of sixteen in the consolation bracket of the Illinois High School Association tennis tournament over the weekend.

The Warrior team lost to Andy Nelson and Jeff Franco of Deerfield in their last match 6-3, 6-6, 2-6. They had dropped their opening match of the tournament

Thursday 6-7, 6-3, 1-6 to Johann Krenzel and Mark Truger of Lake Forest to put them in the consolation bracket.

But Lombardi and Gaumer came back with a pair of two-set wins and a three-set win on Friday.

"It was a real fine tournament for both of them," said Granite City coach Dick Harmon. "It was a good effort. There was a lot of good tennis played out there."

"Both of our losses were in three sets, so they proved they belonged. Anytime you go three sets, you hope you can win, but we're very happy with the effort. It was a good experience."

Gaumer, a junior, will return, but Lombardi is graduating. Harmon said he is interested in playing in college, but said he has made no final plans yet.

Guss, Cox, Carter win at Tri-City

By Joe Senter
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Ray Guss Jr., Terry Cox and Rick Carter were the feature winners last weekend at Tri-City Speedway. Guss, driving his Rayburn chassis, No. 75 powered by a Krip-built racing engine, made it a clean sweep by winning the 25-lap feature event on the 1/2-mile dirt track and his heat race as his late model stock car was running at peak performance.

Guss was chased the entire race by a local favorite, Mike Wallace, brother of NASCAR stock car driver Rusty Wallace. Following Guss at the checkered flag were Wallace, John Seets, Kevin Claycomb, Joe Ross and Allen Thomas. Ron Fisher was unable to start the event due to mechanical problems.

Perry Tripp, another local favorite from Farmington, Mo., fell out of the main event with mechanical problems in his B & R Auto Parts Camaro.

Rodney Dial won the other heat race.

Terry Cox, driving his 94 sportman's car, made it a clean sweep in that division by winning his heat race and feature event from the large field of sportsman's cars. John Wolfmeier took second, Bob Stanton third, Mike Seets fourth, Mark Kruse fifth and Ed Kunz sixth.

Jake Seets and Steve Quartermore, two of the top sportsman's cars, were out of the event with mechanical problems. Cox, Seets and Wolfmeier took the heat races.

Young Rick Carter was the feature event winner for the street stock cars, driving his No. 42 car. He was followed by Roy Braunmeier, Darrel Hoffman and Granite City's own Mel Perkins, who has been coming on pretty strong in the last few weeks; Wes Weinman was fifth and Jeff Emery sixth.

Late model stock cars, sportsman's cars and street stocks race every Saturday night. The gates open at 5 p.m., with racing at 7 p.m. Adults' admission is $6. On June 4, the speedway will host open competition winged sprint cars.

and did not strike out a batter. The win improved Westerfield's record to 10-1.

"I've never had a sophomore pitcher that has been so dominant," May said. "I've had sophomores at other positions do well, but never a pitcher."

Westerfield is 2-0 against Granite City this season. He pitched in the other meeting between the two schools (a 6-5 Granite City win) but did not figure in the decision.

Granite City had several chances to score in the earlier innings. The Warriors lost two runners trying to steal. In the first, Todd Hinterser was thrown out at home plate by Michael Cox trying to score on a base hit by Chomko.

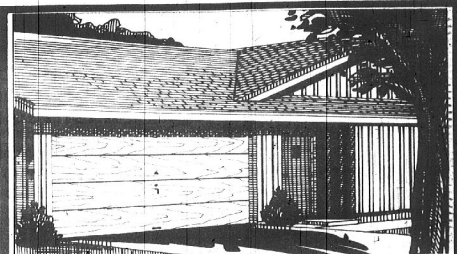

In the second, Partney was picked off in a rundown between second and third after opening the inning with a double. All told, Granite City pounded out seven hits.

The Flyers also had chances early on, but the Warriors were able to get out of the jams.

In the second, LeVault pitched out of a second and third situation when he got Mike Sander to ground back to the mound and fanned Westerfield.

LeVault fanned Kerwin Price to end the third with runners on first and second. In the fifth, Price looked at a called third strike to end another possible big inning.

Origin of the jump shot — a beautiful thing

I made up my mind a long time ago to locate the basketball player who discovered the most beautiful shot from the hardwood — the running jump shot.

My search started way back in my senior year at Lincoln Community High School in central Illinois, just 30 miles northeast of Springfield. (I know it's 30 miles because I ran it with two other basketball teammates on the cross country team in the autumn of 1929.)

We three were planning to "go out for" the basketball team and wanted to be in shape. I was a transfer from Cairo, Lincoln was one of five schools it attended while working my way through prep school.

The first time I saw the jump shot, I couldn't believe it. Never in my young life had I ever seen a basketball player take a shot like that.

The player's name was Bill Gibbs. He, like me, was a transfer student from downstate (Harrisburg). Later in college, Gibbs was a starter for two years at the University of Illinois.

But, Gibbs' introduction to the other players was a startling one, and in a manner in which none of us who witnessed it will ever forget.

In was the first day of practice for the 1929-30 season. There were at least 30 boys trying out for the team. We had a new coach, Jack Lipe, so there was a lot of getting acquainted to be done.

He came to Lincoln from Lawrenceville, where he started the great basketball tradition that continues there today. Lipe won the Big 12 Conference in his first year at Lincoln.

The next year he moved on to DePaul in Harvey, Ill. He coached a player named Lou Boudreau, who was destined for All-America honors. Boudreau later gained fame as a manager who led the Cleveland Indians to a World Series title in 1948.

Boudreau was the key player on that great Thornton team which won the state championship in Lipe's first year as coach.

But I'm ahead of my story. The first day of practice in 1929, I happened to be taking turns shooting with Gibbs. After about 15 minutes, Coach Lipe blew his whistle calling a halt.

As everyone gathered around the coach, here comes Gibbs dribbling as fast as a devil down the court. Just as he neared the group, the strangest and most wonderful thing happened.

Suddenly, Gibbs took off high into the air and at the top of his jump, he let fly the basketball WITH JUST ONE HAND. And, it swished in.

All the boys gasped in wonder at such a feat, but Lipe's reaction was different. He blew his whistle and took off after the young Gibbs. I've heard many an athlete chewed out by their coach or manager, but never anything like which Lipe used on Gibbs.

The gist of it was: "If I ever see you shoot a basketball like that again, you'll wish you were dead." As it turned out, Lincoln was playing bitter rival Mt. Pulaski when, with time running out and our side losing, Gibbs took his shot and we won.

In trying to trace where the jump shot started, I naturally began at Harrisburg. But folks there said it wasn't Saline County and that Gibbs had it when he came there. It seems that Gibbs' dad was a highway worker and moved around a lot.

Not too far from Harrisburg is the birthplace of "Jumping" Joe Fulks, one of the purest shooters the game of basketball has ever had. As a professional, he rewrote the record books when he played with Philadelphia.

I saw him once in Paducah, Ky. after he'd retired and asked him if we had "discovered" the jump shot. He said no, but a young man from Eastern Kentucky was the first Fulks had seen use the shot.

While I never gave up trying to pinpoint where it all started, it was this past high school season while watching Granite City play, it dawned on me why the shot is so popular.

The young men during 1929 found they could shoot the ball better one-handed rather than using the old-fashioned two-handed shot.
